

I have an extra sacral vertebrae (a tail?)	Captain of college rugby team.	I have always lived no more than 13 miles away from the house where I grew up.	My grandfather worked on the Naval Tactical Data System as a Data Systems Technician in the Navy.	Two of my relatives signed the Mayflower Compact – John Billington and Stephen Hopkins. John Billington was the first execution in the Plymouth colony (hanged for murder).
I've visited 18 different islands in the Caribbean.	I was born on an island.	I had a pet ball python for many years.	In my senior year of HS, I was the lead in the fall comedy and the spring musical.	I have been snorkeling in the Silfra Fissure in Iceland (where the water temperature is 35F/2C).
I spent my summers as a kid jumping hay bales on a dirt bike.	I won a state championship in basketball.	As a youth, I was an avid builder of plastic models (cars, airplanes). I and a younger brother won first place at a contest and pooled the winnings to buy an Atari 2600.	I have bungy jumped over the Kawarau River in Queenstown, New Zealand.	Entered a competitive art show, was awarded first, second, and third place (and yes, other people had entered!)
I have a superfluous third nipple.	I was born in the town in which the most famous branch of the Dunder Mifflin Paper Company, Inc. is located.	I have 5 dogs at my house.	I attended three Star Wars Celebration conventions in costume.	Johnny Carson and I are from the same home town.
My grandfather was awarded a Purple Heart in WWII for having his right leg blown off by a bomb.	Among the branches of my family trees are a convicted witch, a musketeer, and the inventor of the Ferris Wheel.	I have performed for two Presidents.	I have personally viewed an F1 tornado from less than a quarter mile away, slept through an earthquake, rode out a hurricane, and been within 100 feet of a lightning strike.	I recently learned that pickles are cucumbers.
