

I was born in the town in which the most famous branch of the Dunder Mifflin Paper Company, Inc. is located.	I have shaken hands with Neil Armstrong.	I've performed in a production of The Nutcracker by a ballet company of a large city.	I was born on an island.	I had a pet ball python for many years.
I am a pinball ace.	I have traveled to the "Ghost" airport on Cyprus – airport only recognized by the country of Turkey	I converted my front lawn to a vegetable garden and had a blog about it.	I unknowingly set the record for number of bowls of spaghetti eaten at Mangoni's Restaurant on all-you-can-eat Tuesday.	My grandfather was a chief of police and an FBI agent.
I was crushed when my parents wouldn't name my sister Cinderella.	I extended a vacation for two days in order to work a cattle drive.	I was born at Midway Hospital in St Paul.	My grandfather worked on the Naval Tactical Data System as a Data Systems Technician in the Navy.	I have bungy jumped over the Kawarau River in Queenstown, New Zealand.
Enjoyed a delightful stay on the Mediterranean coast with a former officer of the Nazi SS.	I was in Paris to see Lance Armstrong "win" his seventh Tour de France.	I have two different color eyes.	I spent my summers as a kid jumping hay bales on a dirt bike.	I've cracked my skull twice.
I have traveled to Russia twice.	I have a superfluous third nipple.	Two of my relatives signed the Mayflower Compact – John Billington and Stephen Hopkins. John Billington was the first execution in the Plymouth colony (hanged for murder).	My grandfather was awarded a Purple Heart in WWII for having his right leg blown off by a bomb.	I won a state championship in basketball.
